Drugs education, especially on “Drugs and youth” is very important for parents to know. The health session provided this time includes; the first thing is, how many types of drugs are there and what are they, then how drugs can harm our children, another thing is how parents can talk with their children so that their children will not use drugs, reduce using and stop using them, this is the education provided to parents. And the final thing is it also educates parents where to go for help and to get further information, and which organizations are working on drug issues. We really hope that parents will know about this and many parents will come to education session like this in order to work with us to reduce the usage of drugs among our children and youth.
